

1 Butterfly

Description Performance:

On this piece I'm describing the journey of a butterfly. This story starts from the ground, building up something until the rhythm starts. The beginning: "butterfly, fly in the sky. Butterfly, fly so high" is inviting us to a very strange trip where at the end there is nothing more than a peaceful death.

Vocals are created with a plug-in called MANIPULATOR and a vocoder, everything connected to my laptop. I also play piano, pads, which I loop during the piece. A string quartet plays at the beginning of the song doing a long note until the rhythm section starts. The rhythm section (drums and bass) is created and looped on by a "beatmaker" with his setup.
